

Hooray for Bollywood!

Screening Seminar

Bollywood and Its Foreign Markets

Thursday
November 8, 2007

at the
Consulate General of India
3 East 64th St. @ 5th Ave
New York, NY 10021

6:00PM - 8:20PM SCREENING: RANG DE BASANTI

Director: Rakeysh O. Mehra, India, 2006

A story about the youth of India today. A young London-based filmmaker finds diaries of her grandfather, who served in the British police force in India during the freedom struggle. Excited, she plans to shoot a film on the Indian revolutionaries mentioned in the diaries. She goes to Delhi and casts a group of five friends to play the pivotal roles, but they initially refuse to participate because they don't identify with these characters from the past.

8:20 - 8:45 PM RECEPTION

8:45 PM WELCOME Ms. Neelam Deo, Consul General of India, New York

8:50 – 10 PM PANEL

Richard Pena, Director, New York Film Festival, moderator

Arnold Peter, Esq., Raskin Peter Rubin & Simon, Los Angeles

Eros International USA, Representative, invited

Lokesh Dahr, VP Motion Pictures, UTV

Konkona Sen Sharma, Actress, invited

Seating is limited! R.S.V.P. to NYFVC hotline: (212) 330-0450
Photo ID required to attend

Screening seminar organized with support from the Consulate General of India, the Mahindra Indo-American Arts Council Film Festival, the New York Film and Video Council, the Graduate Social Research Program of Hunter College/CUNY, and the International Film & Television Exchange.